Dear General Cabell:

On behalf of Messrs. Gandhi, Jaeger, and myself, I want to express the warmest appreciation for the opportunity you gave us to apprise you of some of the recent work of Moral Re-Armament in many parts of the world. We were delighted to meet with you and your colleagues, and we are most grateful for the time that you gave us.

You will be interested to know of the recent visit of several senior French military officers to the MRA conference at Caux, Switzerland. General Jouhaud, Commander-in-Chief of the French Air Force, came a month ago in search of the same approach to French-Algerian problems that was so effective in the Cyprus impasse. He expressed himself as filled with hope by what he found growing there between influential French and Algerians.

General Valluy, Commander-in-Chief of the NATO forces, Central Europe, who visited Caux two weeks ago, said, "I have been very struck by the way of life, the ideological plays, and the outlook I have seen here. We will give you our help in every domain. We shall go on the same road."

General Stehlin, Deputy Chief of the French Defense Staff, who was with General Valluy, said, "I have been deeply impressed by all that has happened here.... If we can unite the ideological and military factors, we will have a real defense of freedom."

We shall be glad to see you, or any that you may designate, at any time to give you further details on any phase of this work, which I personally am convinced holds the one great hope for a basic and lasting answer to our deepest national and international problems in every field.

With our respect and gratitude, I am

Yours sincerely,

S. D. Cornell
